1996-97 Outlook

Maryland women's basketball will be "Winning You Over" in 1996-97. The Terrapins return all of their starters from a year ago and head coach Chris Weller recruited an outstanding freshman class. Entering the 1996-97 season with an experienced squad, Maryland is looking to return to the winning ways it has enjoyed for many years.

RETURNING PLAYERS

For the first time in three years, half of Maryland's squad consists of upperclassmen with two seniors and four juniors. Add two sophomores to the mix and Maryland has an experienced squad of talented players. The returning team has come back in excellent shape and ready to play. "This is probably the best returning team in terms of conditioning that we have ever had," Coach Weller says. "On the first day, everyone made standards that are not usually met until the end of pre-season. This shows the team is serious about having a successful year."

The returnees are ready to build on last year's experiences. The month of February put the taste of victory in the mouths of the Terrapins as Maryland ended the regular season on a 5-2 run and gained confidence in its winning ways. "They started to reap the benefits and enjoyment from all of the efforts they had made and that's always fun," says Coach Weller.

The Terps are ready to win and know they have the ability to do so. "I don't think they are overconfident by any means. I think they feel good about themselves and what they have accomplished thus far and what they are going to accomplish in the upcoming season," Coach Weller says.

Weller hopes the returning players have the success that her other players have had over the years. "I'm hoping this class has the success that previous classes have had once they got a little experience under their belts. Those have been pretty successful teams." The success of Weller-coached teams speaks for itself; eight ACC championships, post-season play 16 of the last 21 years and three Final Four appearances.

The returning players are ready for the upcoming season and are not inclined to give up any playing time. "I think it will be competitive in every spot" says Weller. "There will be tremendous support at every position this year."

The returning Terps are ready to prove they are a basketball force to be reckoned with and are looking to return to top of the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Terrapins are excited, in shape and ready for the season.

THE NEWCOMERS

Maryland has a cast of talented newcomers that can immediately contribute to the Terps' success this season. Branka Bogunovic, Kim McCray, Tiffany Brown and Brandi Barnes will all see playing time this season.

Branka Bogunovic is the tallest female to ever play basketball at Maryland. The Serbia, Yugoslavia, native stands 6-8 and played on her country's Junior National team which was a perfect 12-0. Bogunovic was named the team's most valuable player. "It's exciting to have someone that tall on the team. She needs to adjust to the quick nature of American basketball and seems to be doing very well. Branka has a nice touch around the basket and is a good finisher," Coach Weller indicated. At 6-8, Bogunovic will add more power on the inside than the Terps have had in the recent past.

Capital Heights, MD, native Kim McCray helped lead Oxon Hill High School to the Maryland 4A semifinals the past two years. As a junior, McCray averaged 20 points and 10 assists and earned All-County and All-State honors. Last season she was named All-America Honorable Mention in USA Today and Street & Smith. "Kim is a player similar to Sonia Chase in that she is very versatile. She has the ability to play all three perimeter positions," Weller says. "She is a quick, intense player and will be an outstanding defender".

Tiffany Brown led Elizabeth Seton High School in Clinton, MD, to a 27-2 record while earning Maryland All-State honors. Coach Weller believes that Brown will have a significant impact in her freshmen year. She will share point guard responsibilities with Kim Bretz. "Tiffany has tremendous passing ability and is a good three-point shooter," Weller says. "She has a good court awareness and has a good feel for the game."

Brandi Barnes is the first athlete ever to record a triple double at Joppatowne High School in Joppatowne, MD, and led Joppatowne to two state tournaments. In addition to basketball, Barnes participated in tennis and volleyball. "Brandi was not very well known coming out of high school but she is going to develop into a very strong college player," Weller says.

Bogunovic and Barnes add power to Maryland's inside game, while Brown and McCray will provide quickness. These four newcomers are going to be an integral part of Maryland's success not only in the future but in the upcoming season.

THE SCHEDULE

"The schedule is an extraordinary challenge this year because of the start," Weller says. Maryland have no time to ease into the season as it faces Penn State in State College on November 22. "It's going to be a huge challenge for the team to start on a winning note but we are going to give it our best shot," Weller says.

Maryland in-state rivalries Morgan State, Loyola, Howard and Towson State are an important part of the early season schedule. The Terps compete against these teams in the first two months of the season before they head into conference play.

In Atlantic Coast Conference action, Maryland will be looking to improve on its 7-9 record and sixth-place finish last season. Conference play comes early this season for the Terps as they face the Lady Tigers of Clemson, the defending ACC champions, on December 7 at Cole Field House. "There aren't any easy games in our conference," Weller says, "its just part of competing in the ACC." The Terrapins are looking forward to the challenges of conference play as they compete against several teams that finished in the final rankings a year ago. Looking to get back into the national rankings itself, Maryland will need to defeat the tough competition that makes up the ACC.

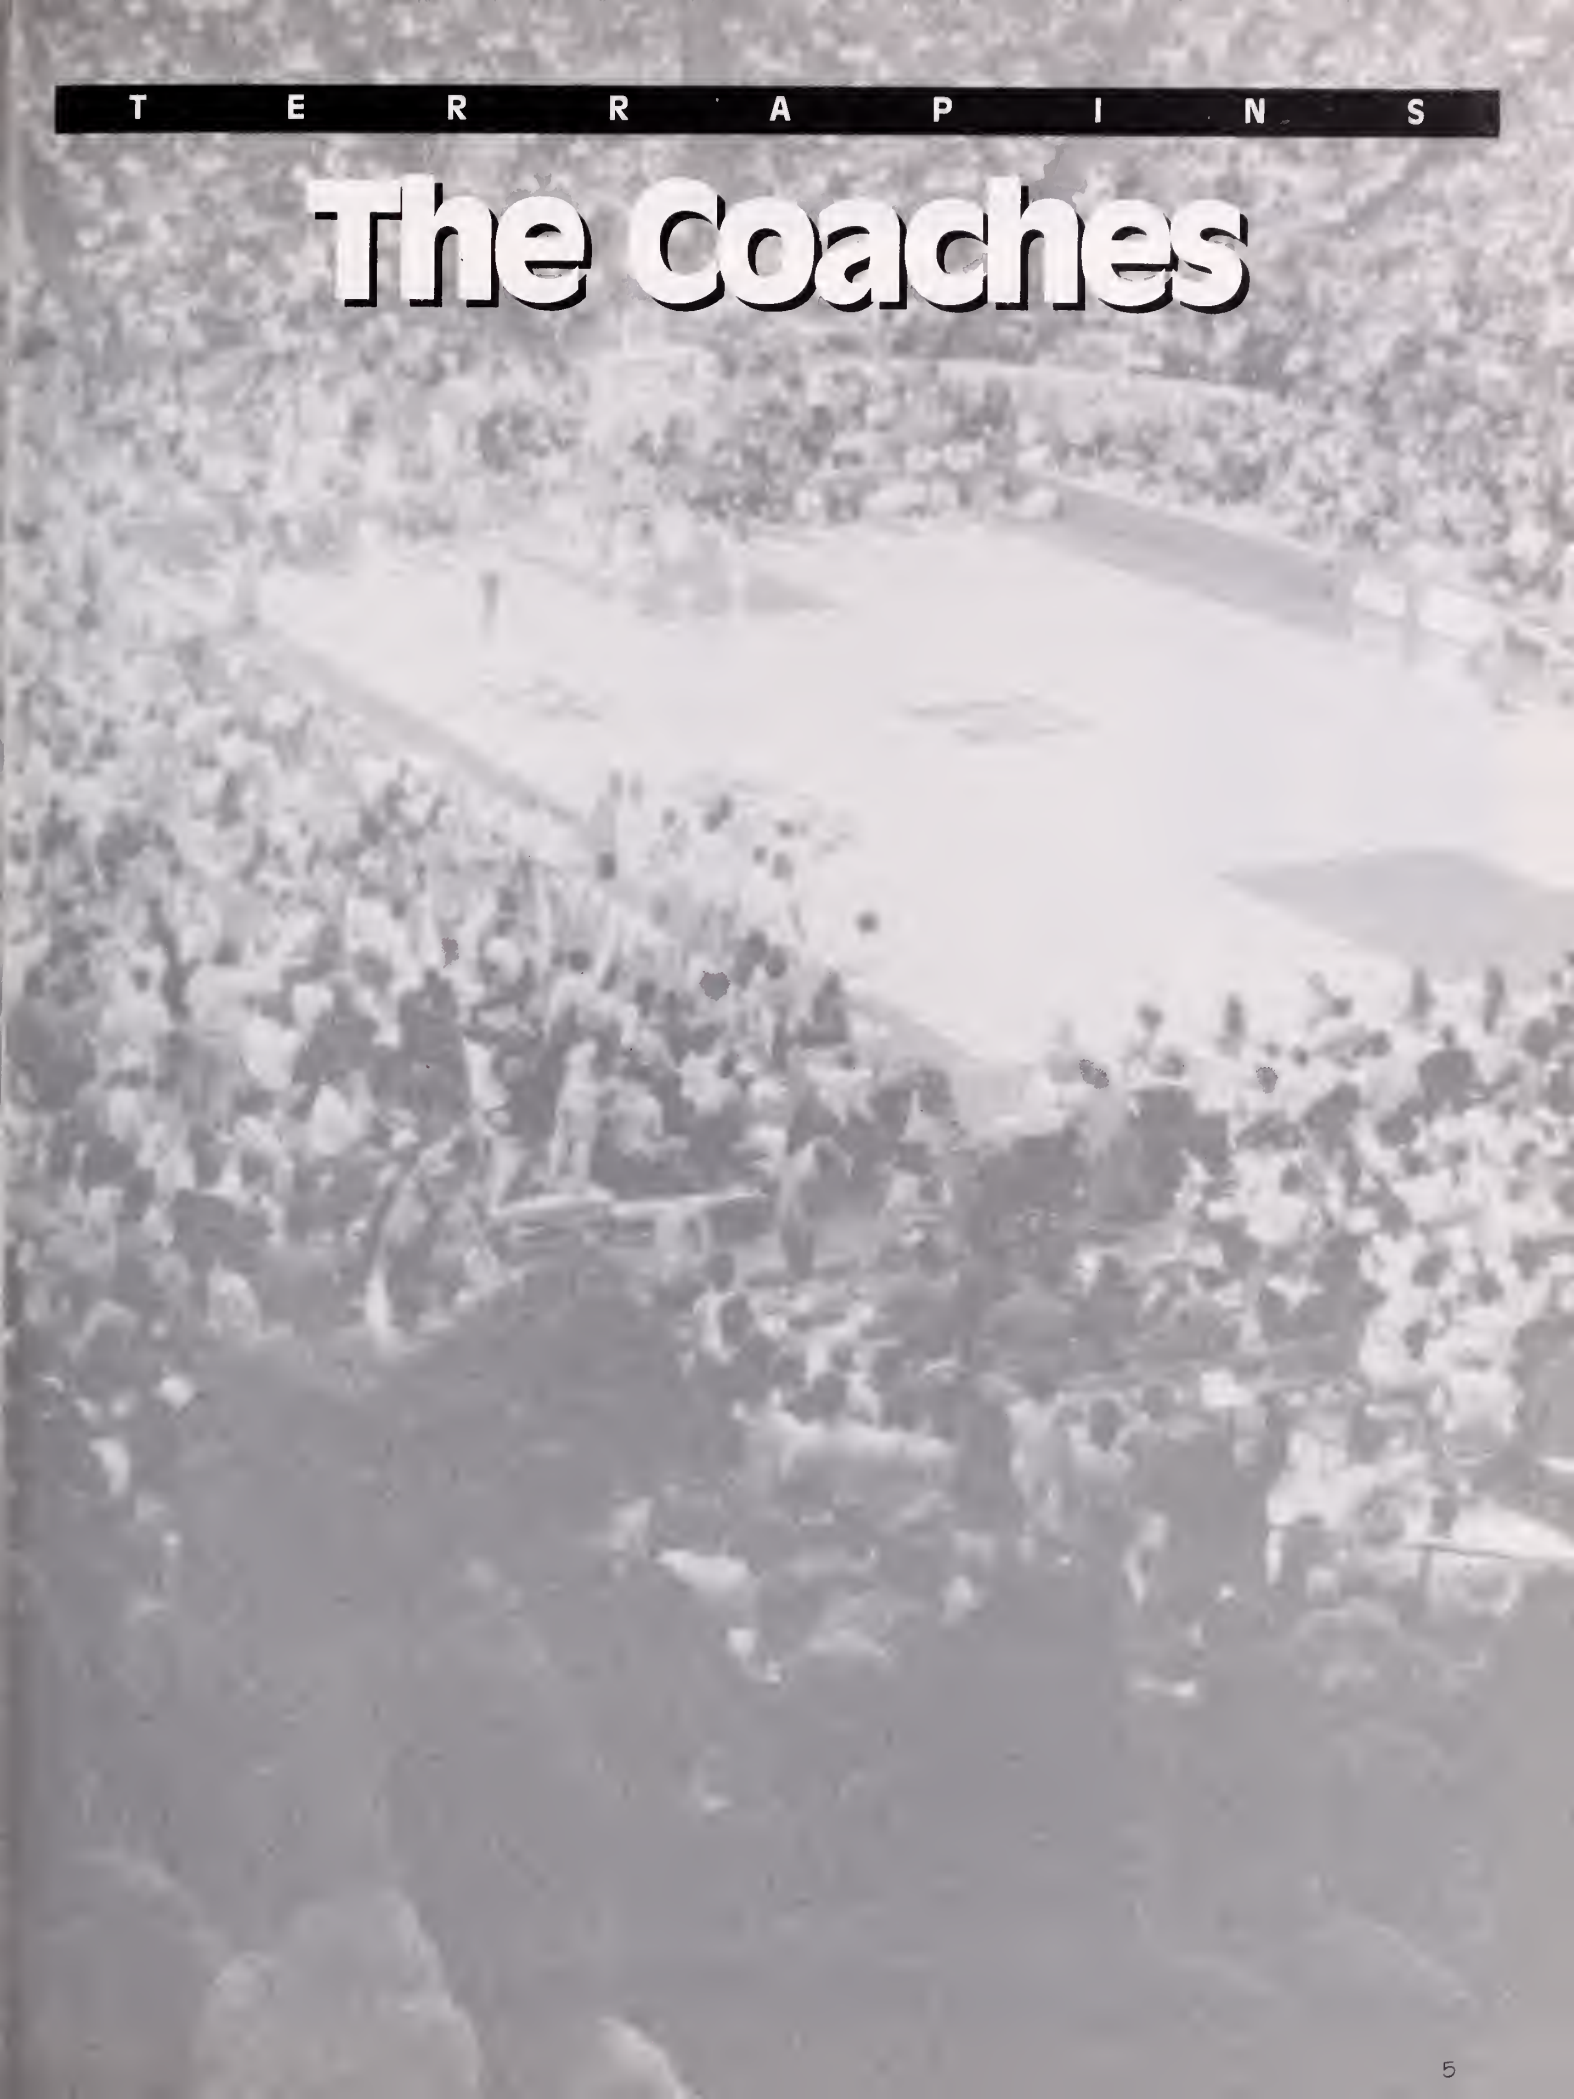
The Coaches



Head Coach Chris Weller

Chris Weller begins her 22nd season at the helm of the Maryland basketball program. She has registered a 414-198 career-mark at her alma mater while accomplishing a myriad of astounding goals. She became only the fifth coach to earn at least 400 victories at a single institution as the Terrapins defeated a tough NC State team 83-80 on January 28, 1995. The nationally-respected head coach has directed her squads to an unprecedented eight Atlantic Coast Conference championships, the first coming in 1978. In addition to her achievements in the conference, Weller has also led her teams to 14 NCAA Tournaments, advancing to ten Sweet 16's, eight Final Eights, and three Final Fours.

Under Weller, the Terrapins have been ranked in the Top 10 nationally nine times and the Top 25 on 14 occasions. In her 20 years, all but six classes have participated in a Final Four and all but one class has experienced at least one Sweet 16.

Individually, players have achieved personal recognition under Weller as well. Maryland has had five Olympians, three Kodak All-Americans and 28 athletes have played on national teams. Along with these successes, Weller has seen all but one athlete since 1980 who finished her eligibility, earn a diploma. This is a tribute to her high expectations for her student-athletes both on and off the court.

Weller has been honored many times by the press and coaching fraternity including Naismith National Coach of the Year and Basketball Writer's Association of America Coach of the Year, both in 1992. onship trophy to College Park, opening a cabinet for which many more awards and trophies would be stored. In 1978, the Terps reached a No. 2 national ranking and were among the elite to reach the first Final Four in women's basketball. In 1982, Weller saw her team achieve a 25-7 record, a No. 3 ranking and another Final Four appearance. In the following two consecutive seasons, Maryland participated in the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament. In 1988, Weller took her squad to the Final 8 with a 26-6 record and in 1989 the squad was 29-3, recording the most wins in school history and advancing to the Final Four for the third time.

Many goals were accomplished for Weller in 1992. For the first time in school history, the Terrapins reached a No. 1 ranking in both the Associated Press and USA Today polls. The Terrapins held the No. 1 ranking for four weeks from January 21 through February 11. Maryland's jump to the No. 1 spot from its preseason No. 15 ranking was the second steepest climb in the history of the Associated Press poll. On February 11, when No. 1 Maryland met No. 2 Virginia in Cole Field House, a sellout crowd of 14,500 broke the Atlantic Coast Conference record for attendance.

A tireless worker and inspirational motivator, Weller's 414 victories ranks her in the Top 20 in the NCAA. She has guided the Terrapin program to ten 20 win seasons and has a winning percentage of .676. As the 1996-97 season begins, Weller has a squad that returns seven starters and 10 letterwinners from a year ago. Looking to improve on last season's 13-14 mark, Weller will have an experienced and competitive team as the Terrapins look to win their ninth Atlantic Coast Conference championship.

A 1966 Maryland graduate, Welder was a four-year varsity letterwinner in basketball and also participated on the swimming and lacrosse squads. Following graduation, she taught and coached at John F. Kennedy High School in nearby Silver Spring, Md.

A popular speaker and teacher of the game, Weller returned for her master's degree in 1973 and became an assistant for two seasons under Dottie McKnight. In 1975, the Weller dynasty began, as she was elevated to head coach at her alma mater.

1995-96 Review

After losing the season opening game against UC-Santa Barbara in the Prairie Lights Hawkeye Classic, the Terrapins went on to win their next four games and recorded a non-conference record of 6-4. In the season opening Hawkeye Classic, junior Lillian Purvis took home all-tournament honors after scoring 35 points and recording 10 rebounds in the loss to UCSB and Maryland's victory over Stephen F. Austin.. Maryland's other non-conference victories came against Rutgers, Howard, Mt. St. Mary's, Towson State and Loyola while defeat was handed to the Terps by Penn State, USC and UCLA.

After a slow conference start which saw Maryland go 2-7 in the first nine games, Maryland came on strong in February to win five of its last seven regular season games and finish with a conference mark of 7-9 and a sixth place finish. Two of those victories came against ranked teams, No. 14 Duke and a buzzer-beater over then No. 18 Clemson. Kelly Gibson lit the Terrapin fire in those two contests, averaging nearly 20 points and 10 rebounds. Gibson netted a personal-best 28 points against Clemson and claimed ACC rookie of the week honors twice in the month of February. Sonia Chase showed consistency throughout the season, staying on top of the ACC in steals throughout the year.

Three Terrapins were recognized by the ACC for their performances last season. Gibson was named to the ACC All-Rookie team while Chase and Stephanie Cross were All-ACC team honorable mention selections.

GIBSON: ACC ALL-FRESHMAN — Kelley Gibson received ACC All-Freshman honors as the Easton, MD, native averaged 12.2 points and 3.4 rebounds per game. Gibson's career-high 28 point total came against Clemson as Maryland defeated the Lady Tigers 74-72. Gibson led the Terrapins in scoring in five games and her 330 points was second on the team.

SONIA CHASE AWARDED BY ACC — Sophomore Sonia Chase received ACC second team all-tournament honors in 1996. Chase averaged 8.6 points and 4.5 rebounds per game and led Maryland in assists (97) and steals (90). The Baltimore, MD, native was the only Terrapin to start all 27 games.

DIAL SOAP CLASSIC AWARDS — For their outstanding play in the Dial Soap Classic, Lillian Purvis and Kalisa Davis were selected to the Dial Soap All-Tournament team. Purvis recorded 27 points, 10 rebounds and five assists while Davis added 24 points, 16 rebounds and three assists.

PURVIS AT PRAIRIE CLASSIC — Lillian Purvis was a member of the Prairie Lights Hawkeye Classic All-Tournament team. The Jacksonville, NC, native netted 35 points, grabbed 10 rebounds and seven assists in Maryland's two games against UC Santa Barbara and Stephen F. Austin. Purvis was the leading scorer for the Terrapins in both games.

LEADERS ON THE COURT — Stephanie Cross led the team in average points (13.2), rebounds (6.9) and blocked shots (.5). Sonia Chase led the team in assists, averaging 3.6 per game and Lillian Purvis led Maryland in playing time averaging 34 minutes per contest.

ACC STEALS LEADER — Sonia Chase led the ACC in steals with a total of 90 thefts for a 3.3 per game average. Chase's career-high eight steals came against both Howard and Florida State.

MARYLAND VS. RANKED TEAMS — In the second week of February, Maryland played the role of giant-killer as the Terrapins defeated two ranked teams in a span of five days. Maryland defeated No. 14 Duke, 63-52, on February 5 and five days later defeated No. 18 Clemson, 74-72. Clemson went on to win the ACC championship.

END OF THE YEAR RUN — The Terps had a successful end to the 1995-96 season. Maryland won four of its last six and five of its last eight games. Those five wins came against Duke, Clemson, Wake Forest, Florida State and North Carolina.

HONOR STUDENTS — Jada Anderson, Kim Bretz and Nina Ohman all received a perfect 4.0 grade point average in the 1996 spring semester. Anderson is majoring in biology, Bretz in business and Ohman in international business and management.

COACH WELLER — Chris Weller closed the book on her 21st season at Maryland in 1995-96 and has recorded a mark of 414-198. Weller is only the fifth coach in the NCAA to earn 400 victories at a single institution. Among her many honors, Weller has won eight ACC championships at Maryland.

The Tradition

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 44th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 56 NCAA and AIAW championships, including 27 in men's competition and 29 in women's. In addition, 96 men and 24 women have earned the coveted title of NCAA champion.

If success is best measured in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC is unrivaled in NCAA history. The men's and women's basketball programs have combined for 14 trips to the Final Four in the last 15 years, and 35 appearances overall.

Following North Carolina's women's national championship season of 1994, the first ever for the league, ACC teams have claimed eight titles while finishing second on 10 occasions.

The league's women's basketball program ranks among the best in the country in terms of overall NCAA Tournament record. With 59 appearances and 72 wins, the conference is listed second best in total appearances and third in total wins.

ACC basketball is more than numbers though. The faces behind the men's and women's programs account for 23 national player of the year honors and 17 national coach of the year awards, including Dawn Staley's player recognition in 1991 and 1992, and Chris Weller's recognition in 1992. The ACC has also produced Olympians, including coaches and players. Maryland has several Olympians including; Tara Heiss and Kris Kirchner in 1980 and Vicky Bullett in 1988 and 1992.

The ACC also stands at the forefront of intercollegiate athletics in terms of academic accomplishments of its student-athletes. Since 1983, 180 women's basketball players have received ACC Honor Roll recognition. The 1995-96 academic year included 33 selections. In addition ACC basketball players have earned first-team Academic All-America honors five times.

The Championships

With the addition of women's lacrosse, the ACC will conduct championship competition in 24 sports during the 1996-97 academic year - 12 for men and 12 for women.

The first ACC championship was held in swimming on February 25, 1954. The conference did not conduct championships in cross country, wrestling or tennis during the first year.

The 12 sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, swimming and diving, indoor and outdoor track and field, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse.

Women's sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship competition being held in tennis at Wake Forest University October 6-8. Conference championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, volleyball, field hockey, soccer, basketball, swimming and diving, indoor and outdoor track and field, tennis, golf, softball and lacrosse.

The History

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded May 8, 1953, at Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, NC. The conferences seven charter members from three states included Clemson University, Duke University, University of Maryland, University of North Carolina, North Carolina State University, University of South Carolina and Wake Forest University.

The withdrawal of the seven schools form the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the annual spring meeting of the conference. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, NC, where a set of bylaws were adopted and the name Atlantic Coast Conference was officially recognized.

Dr. James T. Penny of the University of South Carolina was elected temporary chairman and became the ACC's first president when the school's met again on June 14, 1953. Professor F. W. Clonts of Wake Forest was named vice president and Dr. Oliver Cornwell of North Carolina was elected secretary-treasurer.

On December 4, 1953, the conference again met at Sedgefield Inn and officially admitted the University of Virginia to the league. Virginia began active championship participation with the 1953-54 basketball season.

The ACC set up office at the King Cotton Hotel in Greensboro, NC, on July 1, 1954. The office had moved on two other occasions before its current location at 6011 Landmark Center Blvd. in April 1989.

The first and only withdrawal of a member from the ACC occurred on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation. The conference continued with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The league expanded to nine teams with the admittance of Florida State University on September 15, 1990.

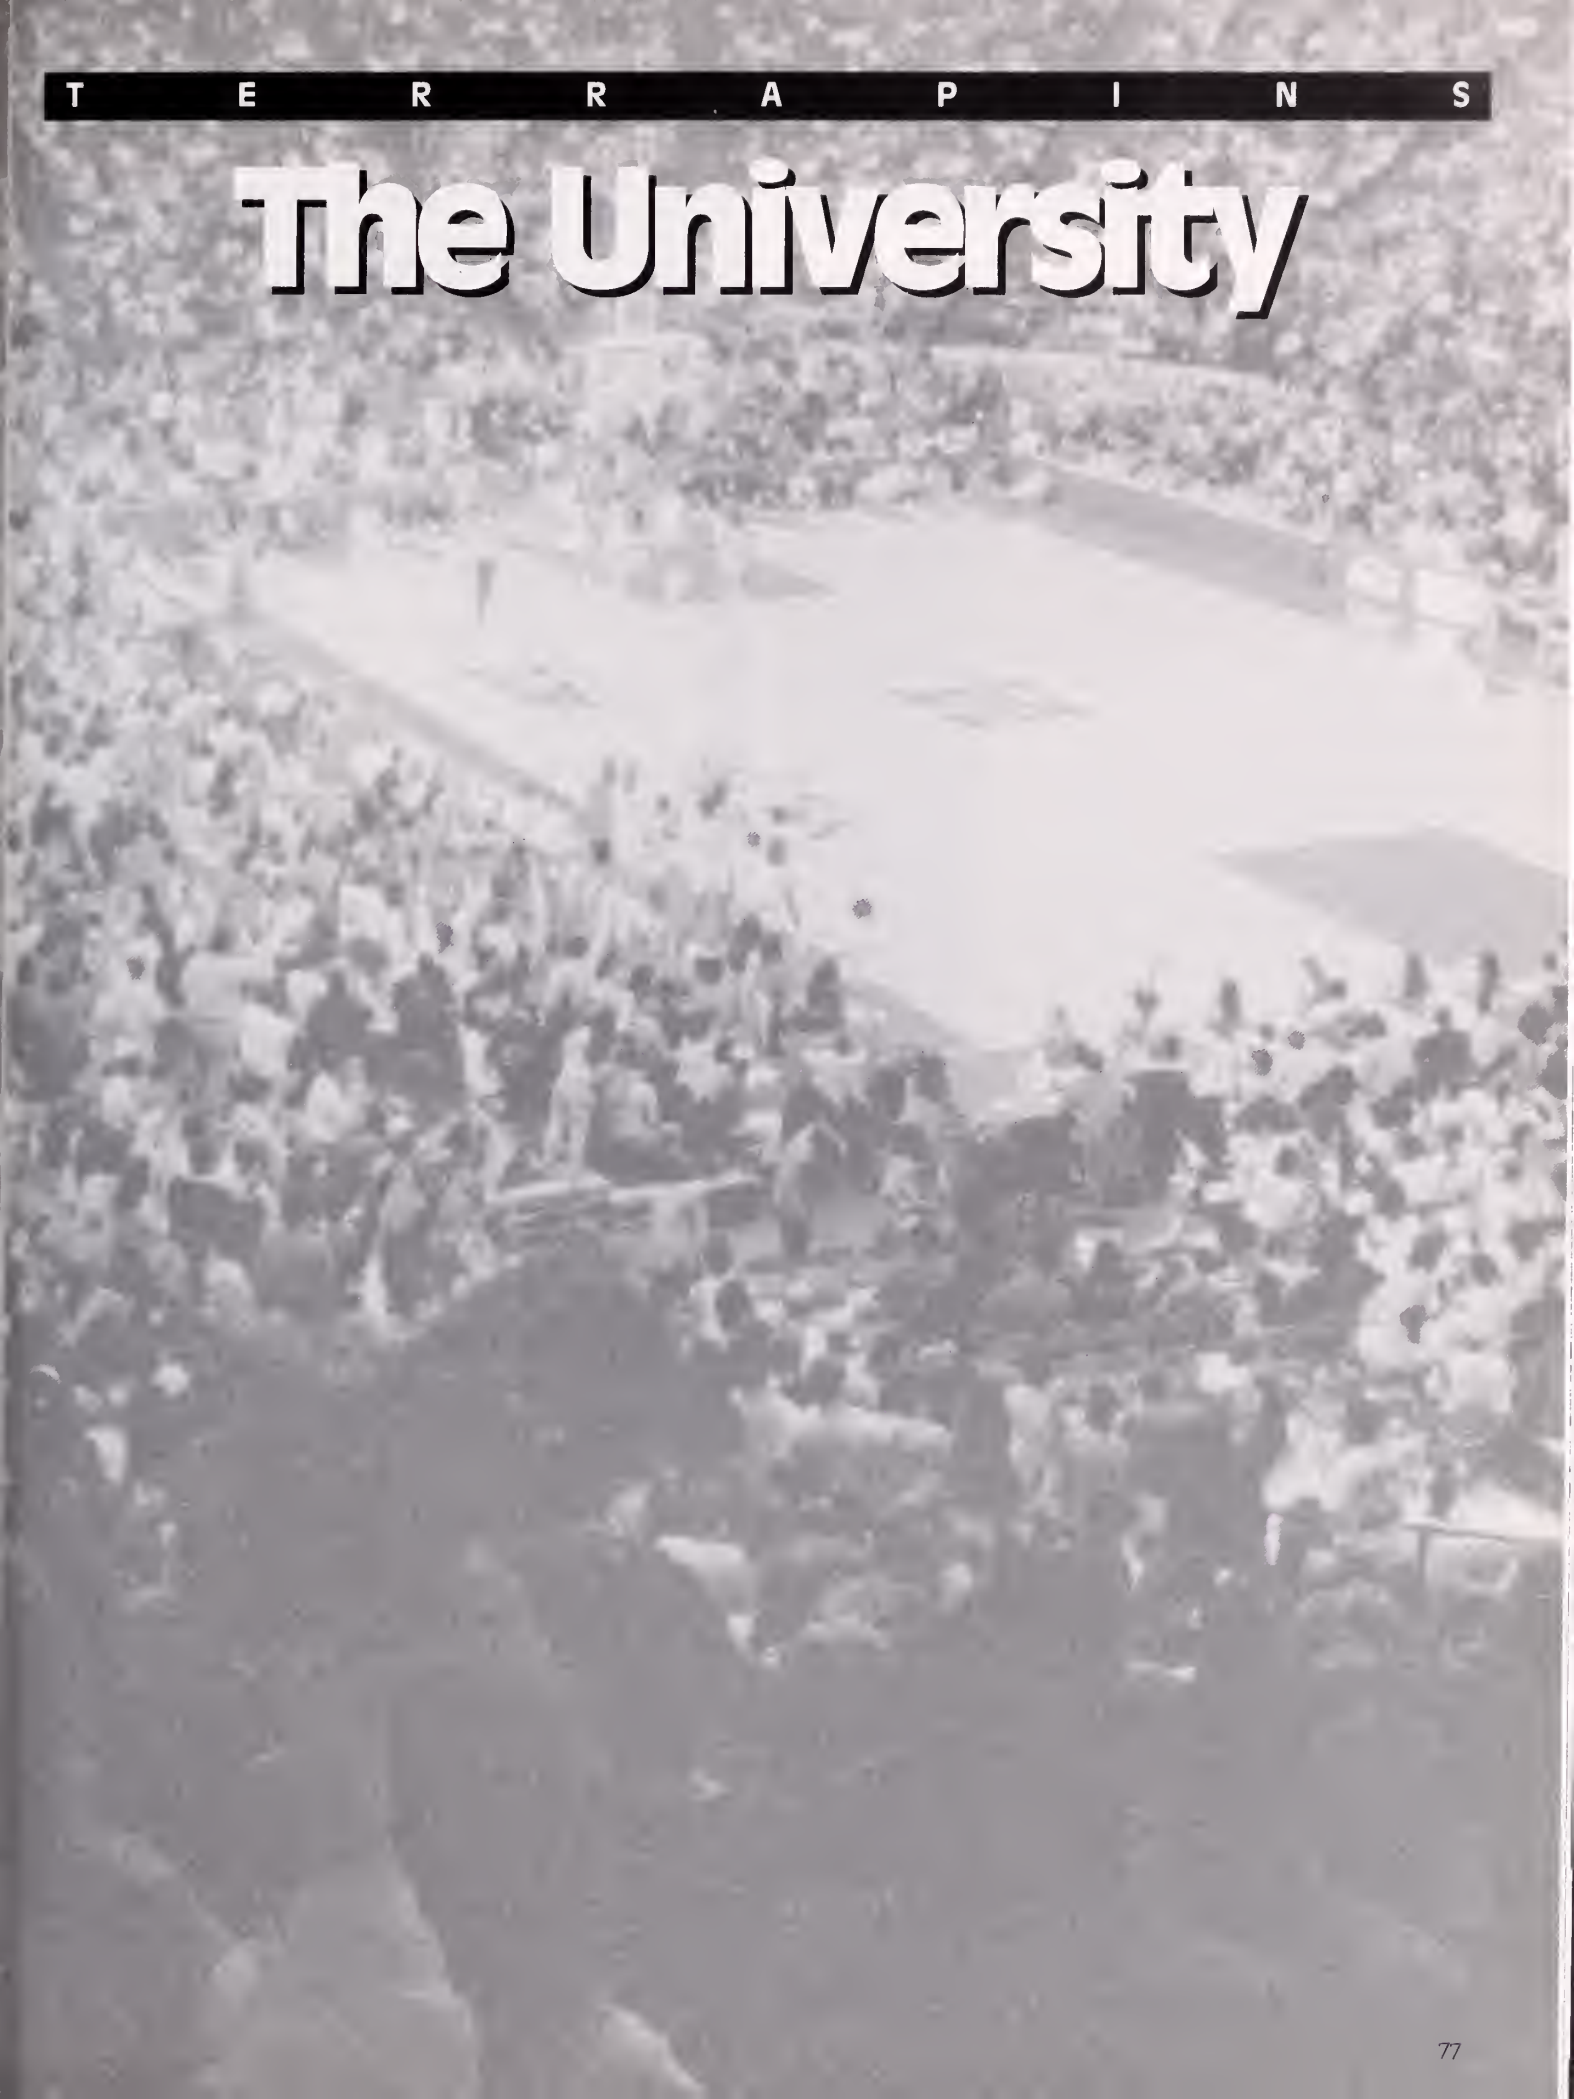
The University



Director of Athletics

If effectiveness is measured by how an administrator makes a difference, then Deborah A. Yow's first two years in College Park rate her at the top of the scale.

Appointed Director of Athletics on August 15, 1994, Yow took over in College Park at the busiest time of the year—just when the 24-sport program and the school year were getting underway. Yow immediately set about balancing the budget, a formidable task when combined with demands for continued on-field success.

Yow indicates, "We run a tight ship within UM athletics...with increased accountability and outcomes throughout the department."

The proof of her effectiveness is in the results. The athletic department balanced its budget for a second-straight year in 1995-96 and she won the approval of the Board of Regents with a plan to eradicate the long-term debt of the department. In 1995, Terrapin teams accounted for the most successful competitive autumn in memory. Both soccer teams qualified for NCAA Tournaments, as did field hockey and volleyball. Football enjoyed its first winning season in five years while the men's basketball team qualified for its third-straight NCAA Tournament appearance, helping the athletic program rank among the top 20 in the Sears Cup competition.

Maryland again hosted the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Championships. In the last two years, 160,000 people spent their Memorial Day weekends in College Park watching lacrosse's premier event. Both men's and women's lacrosse teams earned number-one rankings during their seasons as the women's squad accumulated back-to-back national championships and undefeated seasons.

Off the field, Maryland earned recognition for its graduation rates with inclusion on the College Football Association Honor Roll in 1994 and 1996. The NCAA rated the football program among the nation's top 20 teams in graduation rates in 1995.

Appointed athletic director at St. Louis University in 1990, she gained national recognition with the hiring of men's basketball coach Charlie Spoonhour in 1992. Graduation rates of student-athletes increased to 92 percent during her tenure. Her leadership allowed Saint Louis to enjoy a competitive rebirth in basketball and become a leader nationally in game attendance with a new 20,000 seat facility.

Prior to becoming an athletic director, the indomitable Yow had a highly successful career as basketball coach. She is the first coach in NCAA history to lead previously unranked teams to top 20 rankings at three different Division I schools. She coached at the University of Kentucky, Oral Roberts University and the University of Florida after coaching at Burlington and Eastern Guilford high schools in North Carolina.

Her administrative career began in 1985 when she moved from basketball coach to assistant director of the University of Florida's Gator Boosters, Inc. In 1987, she became as associate director of athletics at the University of North Carolina-Greensboro before going to St. Louis in 1990.

Yow is an important intercollegiate athletic voice. Besides being the first woman to serve an Atlantic Coast Conference school as athletic director, she is one of only three females in Division I-A to hold that title. She holds positions on the College Football Association Board of Directors and on the board of the Sears Cup. Yow represents the Atlantic Coast Conference on the NCAA Management Council. She is married to Dr. William W. Bowden, III.

The Maryland Educational Foundation

Endowment gifts to Terrapin Athletics, through the Maryland Educational Foundation offer financial growth keeping the Terps successful into the future. While concern for today's financial needs are great, the MEF recognizes the importance of preparing for a healthy future for the athletic department.

The MEF concentrates on generating planned/deferred gifts for the endowment of the Terrapin athletic family. This focus is vitally important to the development of the financially secure future for the program.

There are a variety of ways a donor can contribute to the endowment program. Cash gifts may be made to the MEF with designation of the gift to the scholarship fund or for capital improvement. Other gifts may be made through securities and stock, real estate or personal property, bequests, life insurance and charitable remainder trusts.

For more information about the MEF, please call Greg Manning in the Athletic development Office at (301) 314-7020.

The Major Gifts Program for Terrapin Athletics

Academic Support

Towards a student-athlete's development, ASU provides:

- Personal academic assessment
- Academic advising and counseling
- Supervised study
- Learning and study skills programs
- Computer training and usage
- Group and individual tutoring
- Career mentoring
- Summer internships

There is an insistence in the Maryland basketball program that student-athletes get a degree in a career field that will enhance their life after College Park. The insistence is underlined by Coach Weller and her staff, by the athletic administration and by the Academic Support Unit of the Department of Athletics.

Dr. Javaune Adams-Gaston

Dr. Javaune Adams-Gaston, educator and clinical psychologist, is the Assistant Athletic Director for Athletic Student Services. She oversees the student-athlete's educational and medical well-being by her management of the Academic Support Unit and the Athletic Medicine support staff.

A 1978 graduate of the University of Dubuque with a B.S. in biology, psychology and general sciences, she earned her Master's degree in Clinical Psychology from Loras College in 1980 and her Ph.D in Counseling Psychology from Iowa State in 1983. She was appointed to direct student counseling in the athletic department in 1988.

Dr. Adams-Gaston regularly provides time for individual student-athletes as educational advisor and counselor. Her hands-on approach extends to a thorough series of seminars she and her staff hold that train the student-athlete in pertinent education beyond the classroom. Seminars cover time management, study skills, stress management, motivation, drug education, career planning and vocational mentor ship. The school year begins for newly recruited student-athletes with not only an academic orientation program, but also a seminar on inter-acting with the news media by nationally known expert Kathleen Hessert.

College Park Academic Support

Towards a Good Start

The Academic Support Unit will teach an orientation course for freshman student athletes (Education 108, Orientation to the University) to start the fall semester. The program will be taught by the Academic Support staff and concentrated on skills and development issues. The course is intended to make the transition to college life user friendly.

The program allows the newcomer to balance their dual roles of academics and athletics in an unfamiliar environment. Student athletes are taught organizational skills, which include note taking, time management, pro-active planning, learning strategies, test-taking, and writing skills.

Making the first year special at Maryland

The University's First Year Focus program is designed to see that the new student gets off to a good start at College Park. It has three parts.

To make sure the new student becomes acquainted with the campus's most important resource-its faculty—First Year Focus provides the student with the opportunity to study with a member of the faculty in a small class, appropriate for first year students, devoted to that faculty member's scholarly interests.

The University invites the new student to participate in an innovative program called Connections: Course Clusters, which enables them to enroll in a variety of thematically related courses, supplemented by a one-credit linking seminar. Course Clusters not only allows the new student to examine a given subject intensely from a variety of disciplinary perspectives, but will also give you the opportunity to develop a network of friends who share intellectual interests.

The Student Government Association arranges for the new student to participate in its First Year Books activities. SGA selects a noteworthy book which it hopes will be an intellectual starting point for the incoming class of students. Many courses adopt it and incorporate it into their curricula. The book inevitably becomes subject to campus-wide debate in seminars, lectures, and even performances. The new student's copy of the selected book is waiting at orientation.

First Year Focus is designed to make the big university small, to allow the vast resources of a research university with some of the intimacy of a small college. The College Park Scholars Program and the University Honors Program also serve the same end.

College Park Scholars is a new program designed to acquaint entering first-year students with the rich texture of academic life at the university. The program encourages students who share common intellectual interests to study together in courses organized around common themes and to live toothier in a selected residence hall. The Scholars program provides a focus for study, advising and a variety of educational and social activities.

The University Honors Program provides the university's most academically talented students a challenging and exciting range of seminar-style classes, a close-knit community, and contact with outstanding faculty. Typically, freshmen and sophomores broaden their intellectual horizons in a wide variety of specially designed Honors seminars and Honors versions of regular courses, most of which fulfill general education requirements. A Honors lecture series, a literary magazine as well as a vibrant social and cultural life complement the academic offerings. Many of these activities take place in Anne Arundel Hall, the Honors Living Learning Center, which is the center of the Honors Program.

Assisting Dr. Adams-Gaston are four experienced assistants.

John Bowman is Associate Director for Student Services for Academic Support. He returned to Academic Support Unit in 1994 after spending three years in the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. He had previously been Senior Advisor in Academic Support from 1987 through 1991. He was also an Athletic Advisor in 1986 in the Department of Undergraduate Studies, and a coordinator in the campus's Intensive Education Development Program (1979-1986).

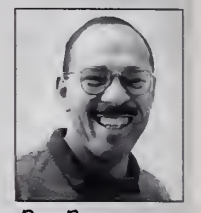
John Bowman

A 1969 graduate of Oberlin, he earned a Master's in Education from Case-Western Reserve in 1976.

Liz Friedman begins her fifth year as a full-time athletic department employee after four years of assisting student-athletes on a part-time basis in the ASU. A native of Rockville, Md., and a graduate of College Park, she coordinates the Academic Support Unit's satisfactory progress monitoring system for all athletes, and works daily with the football team in all aspects of academic support. The monitoring system is effective because of the full communication between the ASU staff, the faculty, and student-athletes.

Liz Friedman

Don Pearman is in his fourth year at College Park, but his experience in the University System numbers five years. Pearman works directly with the men's basketball team on a year-round support system. He formerly was program director of the Meyerhoff Scholarships at the University of Maryland at Baltimore County campus. A model program of minority recruitment in the fields of mathmatics and science, the Meyerhoff program is widely emulated. In the ASU, Pearmen is responsible for post-graduate scolarship endeavors, the unit's tutorial program, and he monitors six varsity sports. Pearman, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., received both his Bachelor's degree in sociology and his master's degree in counseling from St. Lawrence University.



Don Pearman

Heather Lowe is in her second year as an Academic Counselor in the ASU. She eaerned her bachelor's degree from Syracuse University in 1992 and her master's degree in college student personnel services from the University of Louisville in 1994. After serving for one year as a graduate assisant in the Academic Services for Athletics Offices at Louisville, she spent a year coordinating the career services program for the Athletic Academic Support Unit at Florida State. At Maryland, her main responsibilites include working with various sports, coordinating the progress reports sent out to the faculty each semester to track student athlete progress, and collecting the AESPC forms used to track satisfactory progress.

The University

Dr. William E. Kirwan, President University of Maryland-College Park

After 25 years of service as a professor and administrator at the University of Maryland at College Park and following a national search, Dr. William English Kirwan was appointed president of the university on February 1, 1989. He served as acting president of the university from August 1, 1988, until the time of his appointment as president.

Dr. Kirwan joined the university in 1964 as an assistant professor of mathematics. He rose through the faculty ranks as associate professor (1968-1972), professor (1972-present), and chair of the Department of Mathematics (1977-81).

In 1981, he was appointed vice chancellor for academic affairs, College Park's chief academic post. As vice chancellor, Dr. Kirwan raised admission standards, increased the number of merit scholarships and graduate fellowships, and established an academic planning process.

During his tenure as president of the university, Dr. Kirwan has played a pivotal role in all of the university's most significant initiatives, including: an increased emphasis on graduate education; selective enhancement of academic programs; recruitment and retention of distinguished faculty; achievement of diversity goals for underrepresented minorities, and a national capital campaign in excess of $200 million.

Dr. Kirwan is known for his ability to see beyond the institutions day-to-day problems, and for his talent as a consensus builder among the large and divers campus community. Under his leadership, the university undertook a major restructuring of its academic organization, going from a divisional system to a more traditional system of colleges and schools. Subsequently, when the state's economic decline forced a reduction of the university's budget, he oversaw a streamlining of the university's academic offerings through the elimination of a college, seven departments, and 32 degree programs.

Dr. Kirwan is a member of various honorary and professional societies, including Phi Beta Kappa, the American Mathematical Society, and the Mathematical Association of America. He is the co-editor of the book Advances is Complex Analysis, and the author of many published articles on mathematical research. He served as an editor of the Proceeding of the American Mathematical Society from 1977 to 1985. He chaired the Mathematical Sciences in the Year 200 committee, a task force created by the National Research Council (NRO) to improve mathematics education in the nation's colleges and universities during the next decade, and he currently serves on the NRC's Committee on Undergraduate Science Education.

Dr. Kirwan is a member of numerous boards, including the Board of Directors of the American Association of Colleges and Universities, the Council for International Exchange of Scholars (the Fulbright Program), the World Trade Center Institute, the Baltimore Council of Foreign Affairs, and the Greater Washington Board of Trade. He was recently elected to the Board of Directors of the National Association of State and Land Grant Colleges (NASULGC) and to the Presidents Commission of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA). He is also chair-elect of the NASULGC's Commission on Ocean and Atmosphere. In addition, Dr. Kirwan serves on the American Council on Education Commission on Women in Higher Education and chairs the Prince George's County Board of Education's Citizens Advisory Committee.

Because of his contributions to higher education, he was named Officer in the Order of Leopold II by the Belgium Government and elected to the University of Kentucky's Hall of Distinguished Alumni.

Noted for his enormous energy and long work days, Dr. Kirwan regularly finds time to teach an undergraduate class. Whenever possible, he schedules time to enjoy a classical music concert and tries to find an hour or two each week to escape to a convenient tennis court where he is known as a very competitive tennis player.

Dr. Kirwan is married to the former Patricia Harper of Lexington, Kentucky. They have two children: a son, William E. Kirwan III, 30, a Washington architect who earned his baccalaureate and master's degrees from the university, and a daughter, Ann Elizabeth, 25, who also graduated from the university with a degree in journalism.

History of College Park

Just after the American Revolution, the state of Maryland established its first two colleges at Chestertown and Annapolis. By the 1850s, at least 30 little colleges had sprung up over the state, many with state support, but many of them disappearing within a few years. Then in 1859, a different kind of institution appeared at College Park—the Maryland Agricultural College—the third such college in the world, created mainly for farmers' sons. The college was established by Charles Benedict Calvert, a wealthy planter from nearby Riversdale—now Riverdale—and later a congressman. Calvert built a handsome Gothic dormitory-classroom structure located in a grove of trees near the present Morrill Hall, and he divided the land down the Baltimore-Washington Turnpike into small plots where each of the 50-or-so students experimented with a different crop. After the Civil War, the institution became a land-grant college, with small appropriations from Washington. The little college began to grow in about 1900 when agricultural experiments began to bring prosperity to Maryland, and when the college expanded its offerings into engineering, business and the liberal arts. In 1912, the old Gothic building burned, and the state provided modern structures. Women were admitted to the campus, and graduate work began. In 1920, the college combined with the long established professional schools of Baltimore and changed its name to the University of Maryland. Growth accelerated after 1935 when the politically astute football coach, H.C. "Curley" Byrd, became president, added scores of new programs, and won national football championships. In the 1950s and 1960s, President Wilson H. Elkins maintained the rapid growth and College Park became one of the largest campuses in the nation. President Elkins, a Rhodes Scholar, transformed the institution's public image to one of high academic integrity. In the 1970s and 1980s, the University's graduate and research programs flourished. In 1988, the General Assembly of Maryland combined six state colleges with the five campuses of the University of Maryland, and specifically charged College Park with the role of leadership in the revamped system.

Picture a university so comprehensive that it offers degrees in 98 disciplines, so technologically advanced that it manages specially-designed research facilities not found on any other campus in the country and boasts a telecommunications system which serves as a model for universities worldwide. And, at the same time, it is a university concerned enough to include special housing matched to student interests and to ensure that half of all undergraduate classes have fewer then 30 students.

That's a snapshot of the University of Maryland at College Park, the flagship institution of Maryland's system of higher education.

The University at College Park

The University of Maryland at College Park serves as the state's primary center for graduate study and research, provides undergraduate instruction across a broad spectrum of academic disciplines and extends its vast intellectual resources to the community through innovative projects designed to serve individuals, governments and the private sector throughout the state of Maryland, the nation and the world.

Today's comprehensive public research university for the state of Maryland had its origin in 1859 as the Maryland Agricultural College, the third such state institution the world. It became one of the nation's original land-grant institutions in 1862. The state assumed authority in 1920, joining College Park with the professional schools in Baltimore to forma an expanded University of Maryland.

With students and faculty drawn to Maryland from all 50 states and 110 countries, College Park is home to a rich mix of social, intellectual and cultural perspectives.

Among public research universities in the Association of American Universities, College Park ranks first in percentage of African American undergraduate students. Also, the university has the largest number of African American and other minority faculty members among its peers. Such facts, illustrate College Park's progress toward becoming a national model of diversity.

Rated as one of the 20 top-funded universities by the National Science Foundation, College Park is a national center of innovative scientific and engineering research. Such programs as the Engineering Research Center, the Institute for Systems Research and the Center for Global Change conduct ground-breaking studies on topics including global warming, robotics and sea-level rise.

Engineering's Glenn L. Martin Win Tunnel is the most advanced aerodynamic testing facility of its kind on any university campus. In the wind tunnel, researchers perform airflow tests on state-of-the-art designs for such products as automobiles, aircraft wings, telephone cables, signs and power lines. Another one-of-kind is the Neutral Buoyancy Facility which resembles weightlessness for space research.

Recalling its founding as a land grant institution, 1994 marked the opening of the new Center for Agricultural Biotechnology, reflecting the College of Agriculture's new philosophy of sustainable agriculture.

Close to home, College Park faculty and staff provide technical assistance to state and local governmental bodies and education systems, outreach programs in support of technology transfer and in-service or continuing education programs is areas such as computer science, engineering, business, journalism and education.

The University's efforts go far behind the state's boundaries in developing economic opportunities and partnerships abroad for Maryland businesses and industries. A $16 million, three-year contract from the USAID to the university's Center for Institutional Reform and the Informal Sector (IRIS) is funding a project aimed at helping the leaders in the former Soviet Union establish a market economy.

Recognizing the importance of the Far East, the university's strengthening relationships with mainland china, Japan and Taiwan are forging new research, business and cultural ties to promote greater exchange of students and scholars.

From athletics to aesthetics, talent takes many forms at the University of Maryland at College Park. The university presents hundreds of cultural events annually. The campus is also home to the Summer Institute for the Creative and Performing Arts, known as the Rossborough Festival, which sponsors nationally and internationally recognized programs including the National Orchestral Institute and the International William Kapell Piano Competition.

Campus neighbors include such important national resources as the Library of Congress, the Smithsonian Institutions, the National Institutes of Health, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Center.

Close by is Maryland's historic state capital, Annapolis, also known as the sailing and seafood capital of the nation, a tribute to its Chesapeake bay setting. The nearby Chesapeake Bay offers not only recreational diversions but the opportunity to study and conduct research aimed at sustaining the nation's largest esturaine system.

The MARC train offers public transportation from College park to Baltimore's Camden Station, next door to where the Orioles play baseball in the heart of the historic city. And the highly efficient Metro system, with a new station at the campus doorstep, makes navigating the greater Washington, D.C. area easy.

Add all the accolades and, still, only a partial picture emerges because the University of Maryland at College Park is far more than the sum of its parts. One thing is clear, however, with a student body increasing yearly in both quality and diversity, private support growing at a phenomenal rate and multifaceted research program attracting record funding. Maryland's flagship institution ranks as a national resource.

Board of Associated Research Councils. The program tied for seventh nationally.

Computerworld Magazine ranked the College of Business and Management's Information Systems Department among the top 10 for corporate recruitment nationwide.

Of the 60 fellows elected to the National Academy of Science of 1996, two were from the University. Only seven other institutions in the U.S. had more than one member elected.

Charles Wellford, Faculty Representative for Athletics and Chair of the Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology, serves as president of the American Society of Criminology in 1996.

The College of Journalism received a gift of $1.5 million from the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation of Miami to establish an endowed Knight Chair in Journalism. Maryland was chosen to receive the chair from a field of 35 journalism schools.

Cole Field House

When college basketball was achieving its most explosive growth - from the late 1950s to the late 1970s - there was one college gymnasium on the East Coast that sat as many as 12,000 fans. Cole Field House epitomized the new big time, main event status of college hoops, the sport of network TV and emerging legends. It stands today as a building that faces cosmetic renewal over the next several years, but Cole's charisma will not be tampered with. There was not a bad seat on December 2, 1955, when it was dedicated in the men's game against Virginia, and there is not a better place to watch a game today. Only in a building like Cole, where history has been routinely made, can the fan feel the echo of tradition, and experience, even in the empty Cole, the electricity generated by buzzer beaters and a thousand slam dunks.

Cole was dedicated as the Student Activities Center, a $3.3 million project that was erected under the tutelage of Board of Regents Chair, Judge William P. Cole, Jr., and President Wilson Elkins. A year after the dedication, the building was named in honor of Cole, who served the Board of Regents for 25 years.

Although Cole has remained the same basketball hall it was built to be, there have been refinements. Scoreboards were installed recently that will not only tell the fan what the score is, but also how loud they are cheering. A new floor design reflects a modern era of basketball. Cole's seating also grew from its original base, and now 14,500 fans can cheer for the Red and White at any game.

As championships were awarded over the years, Cole got some of the very best. The 1966 and 1970 men's basketball Final Four were held here. In 1990, the first and second rounds of the eastern regionals were held in Cole Field House. The NCAA wrestling championships were held here in 1960, 1972, 1978, 1987 and 1990, and the NCAA women's volleyball championship took place here in 1990.

Cole Field House is home to most of the athletic department offices, and yearly hosts thousands who visit just to see where so much basketball history has been made.
